MEETING OF THE CARNIVAL BOARD

Will Assemble To-Night and Wind Up Its Affairs.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT.

Receipts Will More Than Balance Expenses Some Merchants Are Enthusiastic and Will Subscribe for a Carnival Next Year-Cernival liendquarters.

The Board of Directors of the Carnival Association will meet at the T. P. A. headquarters at 8:15 o'clock to-night to receive reports from the committees and to wind up the business of the Carnival just closed.

The meeting will be something of a jol-lification, for the affairs of the associa-tion will be found in good shape, and the success of the Carnival will be referred to with pride.

Opinions as to the advisability of hav-ing another Carnival differ. There are many who think it should be a regular Danual institution, while others believe the city is too big for such things and think that something more claborate should be given. They believe a great international exposition should be given here in 1907, the proposed plan of which will be set forth at the meeting. Treasurer Funsten said yesterday that there would be a surplus, after the payment of a. bills, and that, with very few exceptions, all the subscriptions had been turned in to him.

Sub-Chairman Leath, of the Amusement Committee, said the figures he had given out were about correct, and that he would have a detailed report ready to present to the Board of Directors at the meeting.

The amount from the Amusement Committee will be about $8000. from the mittee will be about $8,000; from the Privilege Committee about $3,000. This, with the subscriptions, will more than pay all indebtedness of the Association.

The booths along Broad Street are being removed rapidly, and the street will soon assume its normal condition. The last of the Carnival visitors left yesterday, the date upon which all special rate tickets expired. WANT ANOTHER CARNIVAL.

From a large number of business men along Broad Street and in other sections of the city come nothing but good reports of the benefits derived from the

One broad-Street merchant, who has just removed into larger quarters, said he would head a list with $300 for a Car-nival next year. Another said he did more business Carnival week than he ever did before since the establishment of his house, and he has one of the larg-est denatiment houses in the South est department houses in the South. Still another says he will give $500 for another Carnival.

Chairman H. Lee Lorraine will have his list of premiums ready to announce at the meeting to-night, and the prizes will be awarded to-morrow.

Carnival headquarters have been moved back to No. IIII East Main Street, where any business of the association will be attended to.

One of the most effective and practical enterprises of the Carnival was the demonstration at First and Broad Screets of the H. T. DEADLY WORK OF STRAY BULLETS

O'Brien's Death and Parker's Wound Due to Them.

THE WORK OF SMALL BOYS.

Little Doubt That They Fired the Rifles, as They Had Often Been About the Place-Inquest Reveals No New Facts.

There appears to be no doubt that Mr. John T. O'Brien lost his life and Mr. Calvin Manly Parker was radly wounded at the Locomotive Works Saturday as the results of the world by heading of the result of the careless handling ritles by boys in the neighborhood.

The coroner's jury yesterday decided that Mr. O'Brien came to his death by a bullet wound inflicted by some person Mr. Farler lies upon a bed in his residence, No. 2017 Venable Street, with a bullet in his read. His condition is not Serious.

Commonwealth's Attorney Alexander H. Sands and 'Squire James T. Lewis, of the county, will confer at noon to-day with reference to plans for ascertaining the cause of the killing of Mr. O'Brien and the wounding of Mr. Parker.

Only a short while ago a bullet fired by one of the numerous boys who shoot rifles about the Locomotive Works narrowly missed Mr. Frank A. Haughton, the assistant general superintendent, and Mr. Jonathan Bryan has several times the assistant general superintendent, and Mr. Jonathan Bryan has several times had to drive boys who had rifles off the premises MR. Talk With Parker.

The bullet that struck Mr. Parker was ired a few minutes before Mr. O'Brien received his fatal wound. Mr. Parker will recover, unless some unforeseen compilcations should set in. He was very restlese Saturday night and all day Sunday, but Sunday night and yesterday he rested fairly well. Dr. W. H. Parker is at-tending the wounded man, but has thought it best not to probe for the bullet.

Mr. Parker was employed in the department of which Mr. O'Brien was foreman. "I was engaged," said he, "in placing brackets on a running board. Suddenly, I felt something strike me. For a moment or two I was dazed and completely blinded. When I recovered I looked around and up to see if there was any one about. There was no one near. It was impossible for the wound to have been inflicted except by a shot fired from was impossible for the wound to have been inflicted except by a shot fred from the outside. I went out into the toolroom. As I passed a door, a few feet away, Jack O'Brien was there talking with some strangers. I had been in the tool-room but a few seconds before Jack was brought in. Soon after I was carried home. They did not tell me until yesterday evening that Jack was dead."
WHERE IT ENTERED. WHERE IT ENTERED.

Mr. Parker cannot account for this mysterious shooting. The bullet enered his head on the right side and rolled around to the rear. This portion of the head was toward the window at the time. That two shots should have been fired with serious and fatal effects into the building within five minutes of each other would seem to be most remarkable.

Mr. Parker has been employed at the Locomotive Works only about six weeks. Prior to going there he worked for eight rears with Cameron & Cameron. He is a young man of fine character and is a splendid workman.

Last April he was united in marriage with Miss Virgie Boots, of Richmond. They have a cozy little home and she is constantly at his bedside as his faithful wife and nurse

Result of O'Brien Inquest.

The inquest looking into the death of Mr. O'Brien was held at the county courthouse yesterday morning at 19 o'clock. Dr. W. W. Dunn, who conducted the autopsy on Saturday afternoon, was the first witness. He suid in part:

"I conducted the autopsy and found a punctured wound through his coat, vest, outside shirt, white flannel shirt, red flannel and chest protector and his chest wall. It struck the lower part of the third rib, burrowing its way through, striking the venticle pulminary vein, heart and right lung and was found between the sixth and seventh ribs in auxiliary region. The right lung con-tained about one gallon of blood. His death was caused from a punctured vein. heart and lungs."

George B. Myers, the man who was talking to Mr. O'Brien at the time of the shooting, was put on the stand. This was his story:

"I arrived in this city Friday morning last from Cincinnati, O., and have been stopping in Manchester near the Southern shops. I walked into the middle door of the erecting shop of the Richmond Loco-motive Works, and asked the watchman when they needed any machinists. He said, 'I don't know, but will ask the foreman.' In about two minutes the foreman came with a yellow piece of paper, and the watchman stopped him and asked him, 'Do you need any machinists?' The foreman walked over to me and asked, 'Have you any locomotive experience?" I answered, 'Yes,' He asked, 'Where were you last employed?' I answered, 'C. & O. shops, Cincinnati, O.' At that moment I heard a crack like a match and was waiting for an answer to my question. He grabbed hold of his shirt at the left side. graphed hold of his shirt at the left side. I did not think he was shot at the moment. He fell backwards. I and the watchman caught him and four men came and carried him to the store room."
